

WAR CLOUDS AGAIN THREATEN EUROPE

SINN FEIN WILL NOT OBJECT TO NEW ELECTION

De Valera Issues Statement Regarding Plan Of British.

NAME CANDIDATES Believe Irish Republicans Will Be Selected For Offices.

Dublin, April 1.—The Sinn Fein has decided not to oppose the British government's plan for an attempted solution of the Irish problem by holding election in south Ireland for a new legislature, it was announced today by Eamonn De Valera, president of the Irish republic.

In a public statement DeValera said:

"Dail Eireann (the Sinn Fein parliament) has decided not to place a ban upon the elections in south Ireland for parliament. The Sinn Fein will put forward a candidate in every constituency, confident that the people will elect none but Republicans."

"It premier Lloyd George wanted peace he could have it upon the basis of right and justice. We were willing to adjust matters not by clashes but through negotiations and a treaty."

Not Prepared

"Premier Lloyd George has never shown that he was prepared to deal with Ireland in the only way possible, namely, as a question between two moral equals."

In a public statement to the International News Service DeValera had said:

"The English are actually waging war upon us. It is not only an unjust war but a barbarous war. Protected by the most modern appliances the troops shoot down and kill the people, they burn, loot and outrage. Why should it be wrong for us to see that they shall not do it with impunity. For us not to use the element of surprise and self defense would be stupid. Only peoples ignorant of the circumstances and blinded by partisanship who half think or do not think at all talk as if it was something criminal to ambush the English government's armed forces."

The elections in south Ireland will be held under the partition act (the Irish home rule bill) which provides for the creation of two parliaments, one in north Ireland, the other in south Ireland. It was to the south Irish election that DeValera referred.

LABOR SITUATION NOW HAS THREE DISTINCT PHASES

Strike, Appeal To President and Refusal Are Discussed.

Chicago, April 1.—Three phases of the labor situation, including a strike, an appeal to President Harding and a refusal to accept wage decreases, held interest here today.

Union leaders claimed that 1,100 men were on strike in the plants of the Independent Packing company and the William Davis Packing Company. The men walked out late yesterday, claiming that the companies had violated the agreement between the packers and their employees.

B. M. Jewell, head of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor and other leaders among railway workers, were awaiting a reply from President Harding today to their request that he call a parley of representatives of the railways and their employees to discuss wages and working conditions. The unions wish President Harding to induce the railroads to do what they have heretofore refused to do—meet the unions as a national unit and formulate wage scales and working rules covering the entire country.

WILL MODIFY GERMAN PENALTIES

Paris, April 1.—The allies customs penalties upon Germany, are to be slightly modified, according to an official announcement following the meeting of the council of ambassadors today. A sub-commission was appointed to redraft and to modify slightly the customs sanctions in order to prevent business stagnation. The ambassadorial council will meet again tomorrow to approve the report of the sub-commission.

The penalties were imposed because of Germany's refusal to meet the Paris indemnity terms. They are effective along the zone upon the Rhine occupied by allied troops.

TO INVESTIGATE WAR RISK BUREAU FOR PRESIDENT

A committee of eleven, headed by Charles G. Dawes, of Chicago, who served as a brigadier-general with the A. E. F., has been appointed by President Harding to investigate the administration of the War Risk Bureau and the Vocational Board for Training Soldiers. Mrs. Douglas Robinson, sister of former President Roosevelt, was appointed a member of the committee.

GREAT BRITAIN NOW IN THROES OF COAL STRIKE

Second Tie-Up Hits England Within Ten Months.

MILLION AFFECTED Government Prepares For Drastic Action In Emergency.

London, April 1.—Great Britain was in the grip of a national coal strike today for the second time in less than ten months. The strike order was effective at midnight but a split quickly developed in the ranks of the strikers. The pumpers and engineers in Scotland, South Wales, Yorkshire, Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire decided to continue at work to prevent the mines from being flooded.

The leaders of the federation of miners had ordered all men to cease work regardless of the safety of the collieries.

It was estimated that nearly 1,000,000 miners obeyed the strike order.

The government is prepared for drastic action under a royal proclamation issued by King George stating that an emergency exists.

The strike was caused by wage reductions which the operators announced would follow the return of the mines to prevent ownership and control today.

VARNISH USED AS BEVERAGE; MAN DEAD

Akron, O., April 1.—Philly Shiney, colored, is dead and Otis Brown and David Barker, also colored, are in a precarious condition at the city hospital as a result of drinking varnish.

Shiney walked into police station last night and told the desk sergeant he was ill. He was placed in the emergency wagon and started for the hospital where he died immediately on arrival.

The other two were found in an unconscious condition in North Howard street. Doctors say that they will not recover. A bottle of varnish in the pockets of one of the men, doctors say, contained wood alcohol that caused death.

TWENTY-FIVE AUTOS BURN

Bellaire, O., April 1.—Meyers garage was destroyed by fire entailing a loss of $75,000. Twenty-five automobiles were destroyed.

FORMER KING DISGUISED WITH A FALSE BEARD

London, April 1.—Former King Charles of Hungary was disguised with a false beard and wore an entente uniform when he slipped across the Swiss frontier into Austria according to a Geneva dispatch to the Daily News today. Charles left Switzerland one week ago today travelling into Alsace by way of Strassbourg. According to a Geneva dispatch to the Daily Herald, Charles used a passport made out to a "British red cross worker."

NEW SCHOOL TAX WOULD AFFECT COAL, OIL AND GAS REDUCTION

Bill Proposes Weak School Districts Shall Be Supported From Earnings Of Municipal Interests Of Counties Where Schools Are Located.

Columbus, O., April 1.—The levying of a tax of one half of one percent on the gross production of coal, oil, gas and other mineral interests in Ohio for school purposes is provided for in a bill introduced by Senator Jones, Trumbull county. The senator proposes that the weak school districts, now supported by a direct state levy, shall be supported from the earnings of the mineral interests in the counties where most of the weak school districts are located.

Passage of the Brand bill, seeking to repeal the school revenue law enacted a year ago and to substitute a state levy of .15 of a mill for the support of weak school districts, has been recommended by the senate schools committee.

The Dunn bill, providing for reorganization of state departments has been amended by the senate reorganization committee so as to place the Wooster experiment station under joint control of the proposed director of agriculture and the trustees of Ohio State University.

Senator Chappell, Pickaway county, introduced a bill giving the state utilities commission control over electric wires over railroad tracks.

A bill by Senator Cornell, Wayne county, requires the state auditor to audit the state workmen's compensation fund and to approve action of the state industrial commission relative to buying and selling bonds.

The senate adopted the resolution by Senator Day, Cleveland, asking congress to provide for the reorganization of the war risk insurance bureau and other federal boards dealing with veterans of the world war.

Senator Dewese, Miami county, introduced a resolution urging congress to change the anti-trust laws so as to provide for consolidation of telephone companies.

The senate by a vote of 13 to 18, refused to override the action of the senate health committee which indefinitely postponed the bill by Senator Endry, Highland county, seeking to provide for a separate state licensing board for chiropractors. A similar initiated bill was defeated in the house.

Bills were passed by senate providing for four year terms for county clerks and recorders, starting with the next county election next year.

CUMMINS-ESCH LAW FOR RAILS TO BE CHANGED

President Harding and Cabinet Seek New Way Out.

TALK REDUCTIONS Many Hold That Rates Must Be Somewhat Reduced.

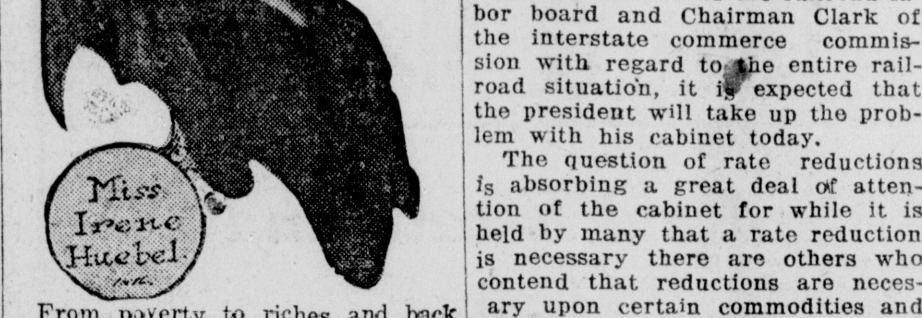

Washington, April 1.—President Harding and his cabinet are today studiously seeking an answer to the railroad puzzle.

The president and his cabinet, it was learned, are convinced that the Cummins Esch law controlling the transportation systems of the nation must be radically changed, but thus far no definite program for revision of this law has been advanced which is satisfactory.

The president is expected to devote a portion of his message to the forthcoming congress to the question of the railroads and is anxious to suggest definite remedies, but out of the mass of data and suggestions laid before him, there has been no real constructive plan for lifting the railroads out of the mire of financial difficulties.

Having conferred at length with Chairman Barton of the railroad labor board and Chairman Clark of the interstate commerce commission with regard to the entire railroad situation, it is expected that the president will take up the problem with his cabinet today.

The question of rate reductions is absorbing a great deal of attention of the cabinet for while it is held by many that a rate reduction is necessary there are others who contend that reductions are necessary upon certain commodities and that present rates can stand on the commodities of high value which are not transported in great quantities in interstate commerce.

From poverty to riches and back again is the story of Irene Huebel, a Boston shop girl. Miss Huebel has just filed suit to break the will of her late aunt, Mrs. Amanda S. Muenchinger, proprietor of a string of exclusive boarding houses in Newport, R. I. Miss Huebel, an orphan, alleged that her aunt promised to take care of her, she having lived with Mrs. Muenchinger for the past ten years. Mrs. Muenchinger died last January leaving her $100,000 estate to Purton J. Baldwin, an employee. Miss Huebel was left penniless and is now working for $10 a week after ten years of comparative luxury.

BANDIT LEADERS, ESCAPED FROM JAIL, FINALLY CAPTURED

Nation Wide Search Ends When Men Are Arrested.

Akron, O., April 1.—Leroy Dunlap and Louis Neichter, leaders of the bandit gang that murdered Steve Bosses, restaurant proprietor, and who escaped from the county jail May 13, last, in a wholesale jail delivery, have been captured in Jacksonville, Fla. The two are now in jail in that city arrested through a private detective agency and await Sheriff Hutchison who left for the South late Thursday night.

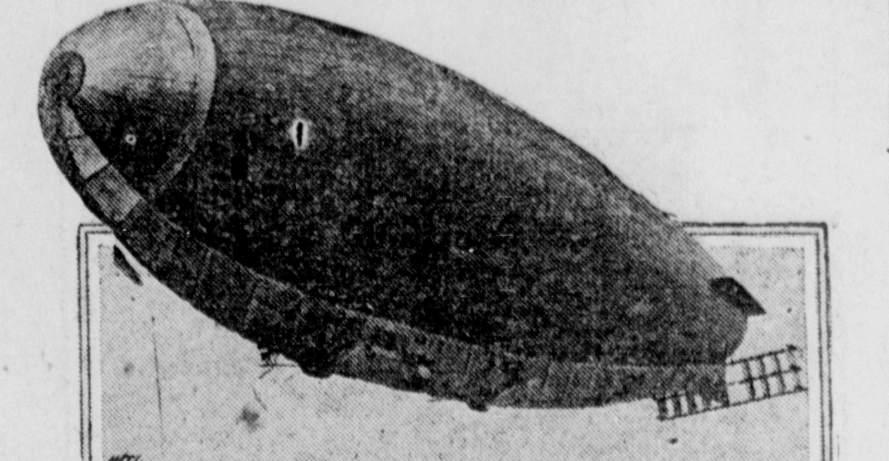

Their capture which has been sought in a nation wide search since they sawed their way from their cells was effected when private detectives of Jacksonville made a comparison of their descriptions.

Dunlap broke away while he was being tried. The jury returned a verdict of guilty of first degree murder and the trial court announced that when captured the death penalty would be imposed.

ARGUMENT RESULTS IN FATAL SHOOTING

Newport, Ky., April 1.—During an argument over the ownership of an automobile, Albert Theigte, 38, Newport, shot and killed Martin Renger, 31, Cincinnati, shortly before midnight last night. Theigte used a shotgun, the load striking Renger in the heart. Theigte is in jail.

DIRIGIBLE TURNED OVER TO U. S.

The Italian Army dirigible "Roma" which was purchased recently by the United States Government for $200,000, has been turned over to the American Air Service officers sent to Italy to dismantle the airship and ship it back to the United States. The Roma is 410 feet long and has a cruising radius at full speed of 3,300 miles. She is the second largest semi-rigid airship in the world. This photograph was made near Rome when the American airman made their first flight in the Roma. The Roma was eight hours in the air.

France Wants American Support Above All Else

Mission Of Rene Viviani To U. S. Chiefly To Get Assurance Of Nation's Aid Against Germany—League Not Real Issue.

Washington, April 1.—The haze of uncertainty that has surrounded the real purpose of Rene Viviani's mission to the United States has been lifted somewhat by the preliminary conversations which he has had with administration officials and leading United States senators.

Those who have talked with the premier of France have left him with the distinct impression that, regardless of what happens to the league of nations, France wants above all else the assurance of American support in whatever measures she may feel compelled to take against Germany in the enforcement of the treaty of Versailles.

So far in his interchange of ideas with Washington officials, M. Viviani has "soft peddled" the league. He has dwelt almost entirely upon his country's economic situation and the dependence which France places on the strict enforcement of the peace terms, particularly in the matter of reparations.

Those who have conversed with M. Viviani do not contend that France has "scrapped" the league, but they believe that France has given up hope of persuading the United States to enter it. And accepting defeat in this issue, is now devoting her efforts to obtaining the next best thing—the moral or active support of the United States in a stiff German policy. This is the primary purpose of the Viviani mission, in the belief of those who have been in touch with developments since the ex-premier arrived in Washington.

JURY SAYS MILLS GUILTY OF FIRST DEGREE MURDER

Jury Returns Verdict But Recommends Mercy To Court.

Dayton, O., April 1.—After deliberating from 9 p. m. Thursday to 6:15 a. m. Friday, Judge U. S. Martin's jury found Frank Mills, 20, guilty of murder in the first degree, and for the shooting to death of Roy N. Shay, 19, Western Union messenger boy, on the night of July 6, last. Mercy was recommended. The trial lasted fifteen days. Fred Panstingle, now in the Lancaster reformatory, was jointly indicted with Mills and Panstingle, then on parole, started on the night of the crime to steal an automobile with which to assist Martin Wachter escape from the institution. The next morning, Shay's body was found in a secluded spot along the river. Several weeks later Mills was learned to be in Greenup, Ky., with the car. He returned and surrendered, but denied any part in the slaying of the messenger boy.

RUBBER FACTORIES TO RESUME WORK

Akron, O., April 1.—That 5,000 men will return to work in the rubber plants here by May 1 is indicated in a survey just completed following the announcement of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company that fully 2,000 men have returned to work during March.

Reopening of automobile factories in Detroit and Toledo has caused an increased demand for tires.

Production plans of the Akron plants call for the making of 16,000 tires daily.

AUTO BANDITS HOLD UP BANK

Chicago, April 1.—Three automobile bandits, fully armed, held up the Summit state bank, in Summit, Ill., on the southern outskirts of Chicago just after the opening hour today, and escaped with between $8,000 and $10,000 in cash. Shot gun squads were immediately sent to intercept the bandit car which bank officials reported as heading for Chicago.

HUNGARY'S ACT CAUSES ALLIES TO TAKE HAND

Blockade Of Offending Nation May Be Effected.

REPORT TURMOIL Strife Within Country For Return Of Charles Is Hinted.

The big entente today joined the "little entente" to prevent the restoration of the Hapsburg monarchy in Hungary. The allied council of ambassadors sitting at Paris sent a note to Budapest warning Hungary not to allow Charles to reascend the throne.

Although most of the advice from Vienna and Budapest were of a vague nature, all gave the impression that monarchist coup was collapsing if it had not already done so as a result of pressure from the outside. It was reported that Admiral Horthy had resigned as Hungarian regent in favor of Charles, but the British foreign office despite repeated efforts, was unable to get any confirmation of this.

No further news of a definite character was received as to the military movements of the monarchists, but a report was current in Berlin that Charles had attempted to "march upon Budapest Friday." This was flatly contradicted by advices from other sources.

Paris, April 1.—The council of ambassadors is sending a note to Budapest notifying Hungary of the opposition of the allies against the return of Charles to the Hungarian throne. It was announced this afternoon.

The foreign office was advised that the Czechoslovakian ministers at Budapest in behalf of the "little entente"—Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Jugoslavia—has notified Hungary that a blockade will be imposed and a military demonstration will be made along the Hungarian frontiers unless Charles leaves the country immediately. If the warning is disregarded the "little entente" will employ stronger measures.

The ambassadorial conference was convened this afternoon and drafted the Hungarian note following the receipt of official advices from Hungary that the situation there is serious.

Paris, April 1.—The allies are considering the blockading of Hungary as a result of the attempted royalist coup by ex-king Charles, according to the newspaper L'Esclair today.

The Hungarian situation was considered at a meeting of the council of ambassadors this morning but decisive action was postponed on account of the contradictory nature of the reports from Budapest and Vienna.

In consequence of the exchange of diplomatic conversations between Paris, London, Bucharest and Belgrade it is understood that the ambassadorial council will later issue a joint note reiterating their previous opposition to the return of the Hapsburg family to Hungary or Austria.

The Rumanian minister was in communication with his government and later issued a statement advising the people to accept with reserve reports that Charles was marching upon Budapest at the head of loyalist troops. The following Havas dispatch was received here quoting a Budapest telegram to the Friburger Nachrichten:

"Admiral Horthy has surrendered his powers to Charles. Several garrisons have joined the monarchist cause, acclaiming Charles. It is authoritatively reported that royalist troops are marching upon Budapest carrying banners with portraits of Charles. Count Andrássy has been named premier by the royalists and has sent an ultimatum to Budapest."

(Note.—It was reported in a Berlin dispatch to the International News Service on Thursday that Count Andrássy had been appointed premier in a monarchist cabinet proclaimed at Steinmanger and that he was sending an ultimatum to Budapest in the name of Charles demanding that the regency make way for the restoration of the monarchy.)

The French socialist newspaper Humanite, accuses the French mission at Budapest with plotting with the Hungarian royalists for the return of the Hapsburgs.

L'Homme Libre expressed concern over the effect in Germany of a successful monarchist coup in Hungary.

MONTHLY ALIMONY OF $7,500 GIVEN TO MRS. STILLMAN

White Plains, N. Y., April 1.—Mrs. James A. Stillman was awarded $7,500 a month alimony and $35,000 counsel fee by a decision of Supreme Court Justice Morschauer here today.

An additional $12,500 was granted her for additional expenses necessitated by her counter action against her husband's suit for divorce.

Mrs. Stillman to her counter action had asked $10,000 a month alimony and $75,000 counsel fees.

The now famous letter written by Mrs. Stillman to her husband the president of the National City Bank, which his attorneys had characterized as a confession, written "in a moment of hysteria" was ruled out by Justice Morschauer.

The court also ruled out the letters alleged to have been written by Fred Beauvais, Indian guide, to Mrs. Stillman, which fell into the hands of the banker.

The temporary alimony of $90,000 a year is the largest amount ever granted in divorce proceeding in any court in the United States, the largest previous sum having been $50,000 a year in the Gould case.

WAGE QUESTION TO GO BEFORE COURT

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 1.—With the flat refusal of representatives of 35,000 Pennsylvania railway maintenance of way men and unskilled labor to accept a proposed cut in wages of 16 to 25 per cent, the question now goes up to the United States Railroad Labor Board. The decision of the men came late yesterday after a second lengthy conference with railroad officials.

Hearing for the representatives of 220,000 Pennsylvania employees will continue here for the next two weeks. No conference will be held today but the signalmen will be given a hearing tomorrow.

London, April 1.—Formal warning was given today that if former King Charles of Hungary marches upon Budapest at the head of a monarchist army Czechoslovakia will invade Hungary. This warning was given by the Czechoslovakian charge d'affaires. He declared that the Czechs are ready to send an army to occupy Budapest if Charles persists in his attempts at royalist restoration.

Charles has decided to yield and is preparing to leave Hungary as a result of allied pressure, according to dispatches received this afternoon by the newspapers L'Intransigent and Bon Soir.

IDLE LANDS IN U. S. INCREASING WITH AMAZING RAPIDITY

Timber depletion has now reached a point in this country where three-fifths of the primeval forests are gone and where 61 per cent of the timber that is left is west of the Great Plains. Col. W. B. Greeley Chief Forester of the United States Forest Service, recently told the members of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Liberal use of American forests was a necessary part of the commercial growth of this nation, Col. Greeley believes, but reforestation should have been practiced, if not from the start, at least in late years. There is an abundant area of forest land in this country to support all industries, and a liberal supply of wood is most necessary to the people of this country. It was thought that, like the European countries, we would use, when our civilization was older, but one-third or one-half as much wood per capita as we did in the early days. But this rule does not affect the American people. The older the States and communities in this country grow the more timber they seem to require in one form or another.

Demands for Timber Continue to Grow

Many substitutes have been devised for wood, and yet the great demand of the country for timber continues to grow. More wood is used in construction today than before the discovery of concrete, and more wood is used in building railway cars than before the steel or part steel car was developed. This is apparently true in nearly every industry.

Abundant and widely-distributed forests have meant to the United States homes for the masses of the people beyond the standards of any other nation. They have placed newspapers and magazines on the average family table. They have contributed largely to social and industrial conditions which promote democracy and constructive energy rather than discontent and destructive social forces bred by hard and comfortless conditions of life.

The idleness of 81,000,000 acres of forest land, an area increased by 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 acres annually, destructive logging, and still more destructive forest fires, are the factors at work to increase the timber shortage.

Forces Land Enough if

Kept Growing Trees

The exhaustion of American timber has not come about because the forests have been used so freely, but because of the failure to use forest growing land. In a nutshell, the problem is that the United States is cutting wood out of its forests three or four times as fast as it is being grown. Much of the land on which timber stands or has been cut off will always be forest land. It is ample to grow all the wood needed for the use of the people of this country and for export trade in lumber, and products manufactured from lumber, if the land can be kept at work growing trees. Timber for the future is simply a matter of putting idle land to work.

A surprising amount of reforestation has come about by chance, but it is manifestly impossible to depend on chance for adequate reforestation of much of our cut-over lands. As lumber is a public utility, it seems wise for the Federal Government to acquire as many acres of forest as possible and administer it nationally; yet for the Government to acquire all the forest land in the United States is impossible. Over three-fourths of it is now in private hands, and a large proportion necessarily must remain under private ownership.

Every reasonable encouragement should be given to the land owner to grow timber on his own account in the ways best suited to his own purposes, but by some means or other the public must see to it that forest lands not needed for agriculture do not lie idle. The regulations imposed must be reasonable and equitable. Obviously the owner of the land can not do it all. The public must aid him in overcoming the hazard of forest fires and must recognize that the present methods of taxing forests in many regions are equivalent to taxing a farm crop twice a week during the growing season.

To grow timber on the average tract of land, doing it as a public utility, three things must be done. The owner must be given the benefit of a moderate tax while his crop of timber is being grown. It must be protected from forest fires due to the negligence of his neighbor or the negligence of the community, and he must be required to employ sufficient safeguards in the way his timber is cut, his slashings disposed of, and fire danger avoided to actually reforest the land.

PEACH CROP RUINED

Wilmington, Del., March 28.—The entire Delaware peach and apple crop is believed to have been ruined by high winds, hail, sleet, and frost last night and today. Peach trees that were in blossom yesterday are today blackened as if by fire. Crops of strawberries and other small fruits also were ruined. The damage runs into millions.

A LITTLE SLICE O' LIFE.

For some time past
We have been watching
Our janitor and his Sancho Panza
As they have emptied ashes
Into the wagon in front of our Place. The time selected for this Interesting enterprise is when
Everybody else wants to sleep.
They dump the ashes in the wagon,
Then throw the can as far as they
Can throw it. We have long
Believed that these boys have not
Been getting all the noise

Possible out of these cans.
They are very musical cans
And we are sure the volume
Could be made much more
Impressive and far-reaching
If they would adopt our plan,
Which is to toss the can up to
The roof of the building and let
Some man up there throw it down
To the sidewalk. It is a six-story
Building, and we feel that
Many more people could be Kept awake by this method.

The Chicago ministers are going to try ridicule as a means of bringing about a reform in women's fashions. Newspaper men who have already tried that will not be much interested in what the ministers will study up to say, but there may be some quite jolly comebacks from the women.

WHAT KIND OF SOLE?

Headline in N. Y. "Herald":
"MAKING GOOD SOLE AIM OF GOV. MILLER."

We take this method of informing President Harding that under no circumstances will we accept the ambassadorship to the court of St. James. It will be quite useless to ask us. While we are a great diplomat and are really well fitted for the place in every way, we do not feel that we can leave our position as column conductor of this paper, as we have a contract which has some time to run. If we could continue to draw our salary as column conductor, we might be able to afford the job in London, as we understand a house now goes with it. We have even seen a picture of the house and we do not like it very much. In fact, it is not as good looking a house as Sterling Towers, in which we now live, and it isn't anywhere near as large. There are eighty-six families in our present house and we don't believe the embassy will hold more than forty-seven. We hope the president will be able to get some other great diplomat to take this post, as it really is an important place. We don't remember just who has held it during recent years, but it is an important job at that.

We believe the Ypp incident has given the newspaper poets the chance of a lifetime. It is possible to rhyme Ypp with almost anything, and while most of them use "scrap" and "map" as favorites, we saw one the other day who used "trappe."

OH, AW RIGHT.

Dear Roy—On reading that the price of admission to the first showing of "The Four Horsemen" is to be $10, I am reminded of the wheeze that ends, "Jesse James had a horse."—E. E. T.

"Topeka people don't appreciate Topeka's good street car service until they go riding in some other city."—Topeka "Capital." And that's what they say in every town in the United States.

Now that the Bolshevik government has been overthrown again and is back again, we can go on with the usual order of business.

ARBOR DAY WILL COME THIS YEAR ON APRIL EIGHTH

How to beautify by means of flowers and shrubbery rural and city school grounds is featured in the handsome 96-page issue of the Ohio arbor and bird day annual for 1921.

A number of views depict the advantage worked by shrubbery in the attractiveness of school premises. Some of the pictures show the schools prior and subsequent to the planting program.

The annual recites how a thousand soldiers of Middletown are to be remembered each by a tree set at regular intervals along Dixie highway from Middletown to Eagle's corner. More than 500 of these trees are already planted according to a statement credited to R. W. Solomon, the superintendent of the Middletown public schools.

Arbor Day celebration date is fixed this year for April 8, and a concerted movement throughout the county to observe the day should work wonders in seeming to intensify the interest of school children in our native trees birds and flowers and would at the same time awaken in them a love for nature. County wide observance of the day is urged everywhere this year.

Easy For Thin People to Put on Flesh, Gain Weight

It's such an easy matter nowadays for thin, weak, scrawny people to put on good, healthy, solid flesh and become plump and graceful that one often wonders why there are still so many people who seem to prefer to be "all skin and bone," ungainly and unpleasant to look upon.

Physicians have long known that whoever could discover a remedy that would cause the food that one puts into the stomach to turn into good, rich, flesh-making blood instead of going to waste, would also discover how to put healthy muscular flesh onto thin undernourished people and this has now been accomplished.

If you are thin, under developed, nervous, weak, or lack vigor and vitality, you can secure at any good pharmacy at moderate cost a ten days' treatment of EVANS' TRIPLE PHOSPHATES, a new combination of flesh, producing muscle building, strength creating elements that is guaranteed to put good, solid, lasting flesh on your body and to make you strong, healthy and vigorous, or money back.

Physicians who have watched the results of the Evans' Triple Phosphates treatment are astonished at its rapid action—often in a month five to ten pounds of desirable weight is gained. Sohn's Drug Store and Sayre & Hemphill's have agreed to supply readers of this paper with Evans' Triple Phosphates and to guarantee it to do just what is claimed for it or money returned. adv

The gown was of ivory satin, with point lace and tulle, and she wore a corsage of pink sweet peas. Mrs. Robert Adair wore a handsome gown of black lace.

Ferns and potted plants were used in the ball room of the club. Music for the dancers was furnished by a Dayton orchestra, and two singers, members of the orchestra gave a novelty touch to the affair.

Cards were enjoyed by many of the guests during the evening. At a late hour a delicious two course buffet supper was served.

LITTLE CONTAGIOUS DISEASE IS FOUND IN GREENE COUNTY

Despite a small epidemic of contagious disease in Greene County, during the first quarter of the year 1921, Xenia has suffered little from diseases of this nature, according to the quarterly report of Dr. R. H. Grube, City and County Health Officer.

In the entire county, during January, February and March, there have been two cases of diphtheria. Twelve families have been quarantined in the county with scarlet fever, there being 18 cases in all, while 20 families were quarantined during the three month period with smallpox, there being 37 cases of that disease.

Both cases of diphtheria reported in the county were from Xenia. There were no cases of scarlet fever in Xenia city and only three cases of small pox were quarantined here. The report showing the origin of the contagious diseases declares that Greene County has been unusually clean in the way of disease in the last quarter.

The smallpox cases, can all be traced to Fayette county, according to Dr. Grube. This explains the fact that the small pox was most virulent in the eastern part of this county.

The scarlet fever which visited the county during the last three months, can be traced to Clark County origin, is said. Only the northern part of Greene County was affected by the scarlet fever, the majority of the cases being around Yellow Springs.

The county and Xenia city are both now practically free of any contagious disease and with a good, pure water supply available health conditions here should continue to improve, it is pointed out.

GERMANS RELEASE AMERICANS WHO WERE SENTENCED

Washington, April 1.—The War Department late yesterday announced that Carl Neuf and Franz Zimmer, Americans imprisoned in Germany for an attempt to capture Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, American draft deserter, were released at noon.

The release was ordered by Berlin Foreign Office, Brigadier General H. T. Allen, commanding at Coblenz, reported.

The German Commissioner at Coblenz, after a telephone conversation with Berlin, notified General Allen that the sentences had been remitted "pending good behavior," and that the men probably would reach Coblenz today.

It was not stated at the War Department whether further action would be taken against Zimmer who is a Sergeant in the army and therefore amenable to military justice, because of his participation in the attempt to kidnap Bergdoll at Eberbach, Baden.

Neuf is understood to be an agent of the department of Justice assigned to military intelligence duty and it was also not stated at the War Department whether he was considered as within the legal jurisdiction of military authorities.

A high War Department official commenting on the release of men, characterized their action in Germany as "imprudent but right minded."

BELIEVES ESTIMATES OF FRUIT DAMAGE ARE TOO HIGH

Despite reports from different counties, just made public by Secretary of Agriculture Shaw, and tending to show damages of from 75 to 90 per cent of the fruit crop, due to the recent frosts, County Agent Ford S. Prince, does not believe that the damage will reach that high a percentage at least in Greene County.

Mr. Prince reiterates the statement of local fruit growers that a definite estimate as to the amount of damage can not be made until after the trees have blossomed and the blossoms dropped off. He believes, however, that there will not be as great a loss as is indicated by the reports given out by Secretary Shaw.

Reports given out by Secretary Shaw say that peaches in Ottawa county, will suffer from 30 to 50 per cent injury, cherries in Sandusky county, 90 per cent killed, paches 60 per cent loss and plums and pears, 75 per cent loss; Licking county, peaches 80 per cent injury, pear, plum and cherry slight except on American plums, which were severely injured; Columbus, peaches damaged 80 per cent; Ross County, peach, plum, cherry and pear injury, 75 to 90 per cent; Meigs county early bearing apples 75 per cent loss, and late apples safe, cherries, plum and pears, 90 per cent loss; Lawrence county peaches, cherries, plums and pears, 75 per cent loss; Clermont county, early cherries and plums killed, peaches slightly damaged.

Greene county fruit growers, while admitting a loss due to the heavy recent frosts, say they will not be able to determine the exact damage for some time yet but estimate it at not more than 25 per cent on peaches plums and pears with cherries and apples safe.

TIME HONORED APRIL FIRST PRANKS ARE AT HAND FRIDAY

Peck's Bad Boy giggled from behind convenient bill boards Friday as crabbed old men in shiny silk ties, kicked harmless appearing paste-board boxes from their paths only to find that they conceal paving bricks of no mean size.

Purses, fastened with carefully concealed threads, were jerked with surprising alacrity from under the outstretched hands and bulging eyes, of unfortunate pedestrians.

Perfumed notes, in lavender envelopes, hinted of mystery and romance and bore fruit in tiny notes labelled "April Fool." Immense boxes and packages, transported by willing messenger boys, served to arouse the ire of tired business men to ruffle the dignity of charming debutantes, and to inspire revenge in the minds of amazed boulevardiers.

"All these ancient and time-honored customs were being carried out Friday. Handkerchiefs seemed to have attained a peculiar elusiveness according to shouts of practical jokers, only to be followed by loud guffaws when the besieged turned to look.

A large imitation daisy of ancient lineage, graced the button-hole of Secretary F. J. Blackford of the Chamber of Commerce Friday morning. He had opened a box apparently of flowers and had laughed when he read the "April Fool" note within.

No where but in America is so much made of the first day of the unhappy month of April and each year the annual victims voice again those immortal words of our late friend, P. T. Barnum. "There's another one born every minute."

FORMER XENIAN IS MISSING FROM HIS INDIANAPOLIS HOME

Raymond F. McGeeney, former Xenian, is missing from his home in Indianapolis, according to word received here having walked out of the Ralston shoe store, of which he is joint manager, last Thursday. Since then no trace of him has been discovered. Mr. McGeeney is a nephew of Martin Berry of this city, was born and raised here and has three sisters, Misses Alice and Kathleen living in Colorado and Mrs. David in Dayton. The following story of his disappearance is from an Indianapolis paper:

"A search is being made today for Raymond F. McGeeney, 32, a joint manager of the Ralston shoe store, who disappeared from the store at 1:20 o'clock last Thursday afternoon and has not been heard from since. "Harry W. Fleming, secretary of the Church & Alden Company of Brockton, Mass., which operates the store, has come to Indianapolis to assist in the search. Mr. Fleming said Mr. McGeeney and Smith J. Gray who managed the store jointly with him, were preparing to buy the store.

"I wish to say that I have the utmost confidence in Mr. McGeeney," Mr. Fleming said. "His accounts were straight and his services had been entirely satisfactory."

"Mr. McGeeney's home is at 540 North Oxford avenue, where he lived with his wife and mother-in-law. He was described as being 5 feet 7 inches tall, smooth faced, sandy complexion and weighing about 133 pounds. When he left the store he was wearing a blue gray suit, dark brown shoes and a black velvet hat.

"The disappearance was reported to Inspector of Detectives Herbert Fletcher at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. The police were informed that Mr. McGeeney was in good health, the books of the firm had been audited and the accounts were found in perfect order. Mr. McGeeney was a man of high character temperate and reliable it was said.

Mrs. McGeeney is prostrate with grief following the continued absence of her husband. They were married six years ago. Telegrams have been sent to relatives of Mr. McGeeney. He has a sister who lives in Dayton, Ohio and two sisters at Colorado Springs Colo.

LESS ILLITERACY REPORT DECLARES

Washington, April 1.—Illiteracy is decreasing in the nation according to census bureau returns today from the first three states in which 1920 enumeration has been worked out on the subject.

In Alabama, where the percentage of illiteracy was found to be 22.9 of the total population over 10 years of age in 1910, the 1920 percentage was 16.1. In Arkansas the percentage dropped from 12.6 in 1910 to 9.4 in 1920, and in Delaware from 8.1 in 1910 to 5.9 in 1920.

Illiterate persons under the census bureau tabulation include all those who are unable to write.

In all three states the percentage of illiteracy in the rural districts was somewhat greater than in the cities. In Alabama 17.8 per cent of rural residents were found to be illiterate and 10.4 per cent in cities.

In both Southern states there was more illiteracy among negroes than whites, although the proportion like wise declined among the negroes during 10 years. In Delaware 17.3 per cent of foreign-born white persons over ten were found illiterate, and only 2 per cent of native whites of native parentage were so classed.

Declares She Would Like To Put a Bottle Of Tanlac In The Hands Of Every Sick Man, Woman and Child In This Country—Never Saw Its Equal.

MRS. EMMA REIFENSTEIN.

"I am sixty-seven years of age, but in all my experience I have never known a medicine like Tanlac. Think of it! At my age to gain twenty five pounds in weight, but that is just what I have done," said Mrs. Emma Reifenstein, of No. 237 Webster avenue, Syracuse, N. Y.

"If I had it in my power," she continued, "I would put a bottle of Tanlac in the home of every sick man, woman and child in this country, for I know what this wonderful medicine would do for them. For almost two years I was almost a nervous wreck. I did not dare to leave the house or even go up town unless my husband went with me. I was afraid to even cross the street and had a feeling of dread all of the time.

"My stomach was weak and easily upset. For days at a time I would go without solid food. I could not rest at night to do any good and felt tired and worn out all of the time. Some days I could hardly drag myself across the room and was so weak and miserable I was ready to give up.

"My health is fine now and I eat anything I want and never have a touch of indigestion. I have never slept better than I do now. My recovery is the talk of our neighborhood and I don't believe I have ever seen as fit as I was generally believed I could after looking any better."

WHAT THE "REVIEW OF REVIEWS" SAYS OF THE START OF THE HARDING ADMINISTRATION.

"Public business is carried on with greater intelligence and efficiency than is commonly supposed. We have in the public service an immense army of civil employees who are doing conscientious and skilful work for small salaries. There are weak spots in the Government service, but in the main the public business is carried on quite as honestly and intelligently as are most private businesses. Little more than a generation ago, a change of administration at Washington, if also it involved a change of party control, was the signal for a very widespread dismissal of officeholders, and for a demoralizing scramble on the part of myriads of new officeholders. The principal business of the average Congressman in those days was to find appointive jobs for clamorous constituents. Fortunately that period is so much a thing of the past that our younger citizens know about it, with a certain incredulity, only from what they have read of political history.

"It is very desirable at a time like this, when one great party has relinquished control of the executive business and another great party has come into power, to remind the country that the change is accompanied by very little of the old distrust and bitter kind of partisan accusation that was so prevalent within the memory of our older citizens.

"Our Government service during the past twenty years has been upon the whole most commendable for rectitude and general efficiency, and it has made steady improvement. This is the more fortunate, furthermore, because public business has grown relatively more important all the time, in its bearing upon the welfare of the private citizen.

"That the Harding administration takes office with a high sense of obligation will not be disputed. The country has too much at stake to tolerate any inferior brand of partisanship, or any use of public office for personal ends.

"It was Mr. Harding's expressed intention at the moment of his nomination at Chicago last June to ascertain and interpret the best sentiment of the country respecting policies, and to administer the affairs of government through as strong and capable a group of men as he could bring to his aid. He proceeded along a very deliberate plan, and apparently encouraged the newspapers and the public to talk as much as possible about the men whose names were suggested for prominent places. This seeming hesitation to appoint his Cabinet subjected him to criticism, for a time; but before the end of February the advantages of the process had become apparent.

"Thus the best opinion of the country had unquestionably vindicated his selection of Mr. Hughes for Secretary of State, Will H. Hays had become so widely known, and had earned such general confidence and respect, that his selection as Postmaster-General was obviously approved on all sides. It was evident that Mr. Harding conceived of these places as great public offices bearing a vital relationship to the people themselves, and not merely a personal relationship to the chief magistrate. He realized, for example, the confidence that Mr. Hoover had inspired throughout the country as a man of remarkable intelligence and power of achievement. He also perceived the unlimited possibilities of the Department of Commerce under the leadership of a man like Hoover in view of the enormous expansion of our markets and the critical character of our economic problems. It was evidently Mr. Harding's intention to repose full confidence in his Cabinet, and to work with and through his official family for the successful development of domestic and foreign policies.

"The ceremony of President Harding's inauguration on March 4 was a model of simplicity and dignity. It was of happy omen that he denied himself the splendor of an inauguration ball and other brilliant festivities. In the distressed state of the world; with millions dying of starvation and hundreds of millions in dire poverty; with peace on earth still so far off, more than two years after the termination of the greatest of wars; with so many solemn problems confronting the American people and its new leader—nothing could have given a stronger feeling of the good judgment and earnestness of the new President than this restraint from all extravagance and pomp.

"Criticisms, thus far, of the President and his utterances, in the general atmosphere of good-will, have confined themselves to the opinion that he promises a safe and peaceful administration rather than a brilliant one. But what could be more brilliant, after the six years that have passed, than the achievement of safety and peace? If, indeed, the new President's quiet, earnest and wholesome personality can lead us out of troubled waters there will be few to cavil. The task seems, at times, superhuman. Certainly it demands a physique and a normalcy of physical endowment that are rare. Like Theodore Roosevelt, whose exuberance of physical vitality was a very real part of his greatness as a leader, and unlike Woodrow Wilson, whose distinction was achieved in spite of physical handicaps, President Harding is magnificently equipped with health and vigor. His fifty-six years find him a strong man and a fine figure of a man, nearly six feet in height, with a splendidly balanced and functioning body. For the truly terrific job of presiding for four years over the United States of America, it is of vast moment that an intellect, no matter how shrewd and governed by good sense, should be backed up by a powerful constitution and chronic good health."

Money may be the root of all evil, but Soviet Russia during her brief period without a monetary standard, had a parasitic form of evils that apparently did not seem to need any root.

While the preliminary skirmish to the elections held yesterday had not resulted in much interest being taken, when it came to an actual voting, the interest was revived and the contests promised a close finish. When the returns

YOUNG HUSBAND PROVES POOR COOK FOR HIS WAGE-EARNING WIFE

Baltimore, Md.—This story has to do with a wage-earning young wife who after switching jobs with her equally young husband, balked and kicked for better food. One meal cooked by the husband was enough according to Mrs. Mary Sheldon, twenty-one years, and she repented her agreement and quit.

Mrs. Sheldon agreed in court before Justice Joseph Ranft to go to work and make a living for the family if her husband, Edward Sheldon, also twenty-one, would stay home, cook and take care of the baby.

After seeing her husband walking about the house with an apron tied around him, the baby on one arm and a bottle of milk in the other—well, she just couldn't stand it.

A few hours after the Sheldons had returned to their home following their interview with Justice Ranft the young husband started in on supper. Right there when they sat down to that meal together Mrs. Sheldon repented her bargain and determined she would not go on with it. The young wife forthwith hunted up Mayor William F. Broening at his home. To the city's chief executive she unfolded her troubles.

"I said cook," she told Mayor Broening, in the talk with "His Honor," to whom she hurried from the supper table. "You just ought to have seen what he gave me to eat. If I am going to go out and make the living I've got to have food, not the kind of a meal he gave me," vehemently declared the young wife.

"And I just couldn't stand the sight of him contented to walk around with an apron tied around him and the baby on one arm and a bottle of milk in the other. I just can't go on with it and I came to you for advice."

The Mayor sent Mrs. Sheldon to the State's Attorney's office and there she saw Assistant State's Attorney Herbert O'Connor. Mr. O'Connor has the spirit of conciliation in large measure. He believes that a man and his wife should agree if there is any way in the world to manage it.

"Try his meals a little while longer," suggested O'Connor.

Mrs. Sheldon's eyes got big and her mouth opened.

Mrs. Sheldon's mouth shut again without any sound. She'd follow his advice. The expression on her face indicated she'd wait before she did anything further in the matter of prosecuting her husband, but she wouldn't eat his meals. No, she wouldn't do that.

"If that don't agree we'll find a man's job for him," O'Connor assured her.

"Maybe women are allowed to vote," snapped Mrs. Sheldon in answer to a question. "But that hasn't got anything to do with it. This is an upside-down arrangement, and I am not going to stand it. He says a woman in a house has a 'cinch' and that he wished he could spend the rest of his days in such a soft berth. Well, he won't," came with some evidence of defiance from the young wife.

Just twelve hours after Mrs. Sheldon made the suggestion that she get a job and support the family while her husband did the housework Mrs. Sheldon had exercised the woman's prerogative and changed her mind to quarrel took place and the young husband packed up his clothing and departed. Edward, "the model housewife," was later arrested at the home of his mother, and again faced Justice Ranft who held Sheldon in $300 bail.

"I can't live with him, and I can't live without him," Mrs. Sheldon told Justice Ranft while Edward, asked for a statement looked sadly on and remained silent.

Thus a feminist metaphor, model 1921, was shattered.

EDWIN ABBEY

April 1, 1852.

Edwin Abbey, one of the best known of recent American painters, was born at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the first of April 1852. He left the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts where he had been studying to take a position in the art department of a big publishing company. He was then 19 years old.

He was in the company of such men as Howard Pyle, Joseph Pennell and others, and partly through the inspiration they gave him he became remarkably successful as an illustrator. When he was 26 he was sent by a publishing house to England to gather material for illustrations of the poems of Robert Herrick. These were published four years later and attracted much attention. They were followed by illustrations for Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer," and for a volume of "Old Songs," and for some of the plays of Shakespeare.

Abbey began to spend much of his time in England, and became noted for his water color sketches. Some years later he made his first appearance with an oil painting exhibited in the Royal Academy in London.

RED NOSES.

John Barleycorn is planted, the law has put him out; no tanglefoot is granted to any thirsty scout; no barkeep hands the bit-ter, the bourbon or the rye, to any human critters, as drouthly months go by. But oh, the crimson noses I see upon the street—as red as any roses that make the summer sweet! Where do they get their tinting, their bright autumnal hue, since vintners are not vinting, and brewers do not brew? The barkeepers are not flinging the glasses as of yore; the doors that once were swinging inward now no more; John Barleycorn is busted, his graft is past and gone, the old brass rail is rusted, there is no demijohn. But oh, the crimson noses that through the ether plow! The looker-on supposes they should be bleached by the now. They should be fair and whiter than is the driven snow, since Barleycorn, the blighter, was slain long months ago. There should be no such noses, since Barleycorn is dead, but every hour discloses new shades of blooming red. Oh, can it be that water will tint the human beak, as well as stuff that's hotter—the booze men used to seek? And can it be that drinking down where the streamlet flows will paint a fellow's blinking and blooming, blistered nose?

ARMS AND SHOULDERS

The best answer to the question, "How can I make my arms more beautiful?" is one word: "EXERCISE." The arms are usually fat or thin according to the weight of the body. If you have ever been to a country fair where the man with the patent scales offered to refund your money if he could not guess your weight, you will remember that he took hold of your arm before he told you what he thought you weighed. This is because the arm is supposed to be an index of the weight of the body.

But arms that are just fleshy enough may not be beautiful. Sometimes the forearm is better developed than the upper arm. Sometimes the upper arm is round enough, but the forearm too thin. Sometimes the arm is just badly shaped. In any case, exercise will give roundness and firmness that will mean greater beauty.

The best exercise, and one of the simplest and easiest as well, consists in tensing the muscles of the arms and pulling against an imaginary weight. Stand erect with the arms held straight in front of you and draw them back slowly so the hands touch the shoulders, as though you were rowing a boat or trying to pull a very heavy weight. In other words resist yourself. Tense all those muscles in the arms and pull back very slowly and repeat a couple of dozen times.

You will be surprised to feel how many muscles of the back and shoulders and chest respond to this exercise. Your muscles may feel sore the day after you first do this, but do not be discouraged. It only proves how badly you need to develop those muscles. Do the exercise again and it will take some of the stiffness away. If it bothers you, rub the arms with oil or liniment. In a very short time you will have so strengthened the muscles that they will not be sore. Then you will begin to notice an improvement in the shape of the arms.

Kitty—I never heard of any powder that would dissolve blackheads. A blackhead is only the end of a collection of foreign matter in a pore of the skin. Normally the pores are so tiny as to be invisible, but if one of these minute outlets becomes filled with matter, it distends and becomes visible. The dust and dirt that gets over any face mixes with this substance and makes a blackhead. It takes months and sometimes years of extra thorough cleanliness and of stimulation to the skin to clear out this waste matter. One of the most effective treatments I can recommend is my own Blackhead Cleansing Powder to be used every day. I will gladly send you the formula for this.

WEATHER FICKLE IN EARLY SPRING

You can set your hens by the weather these days.

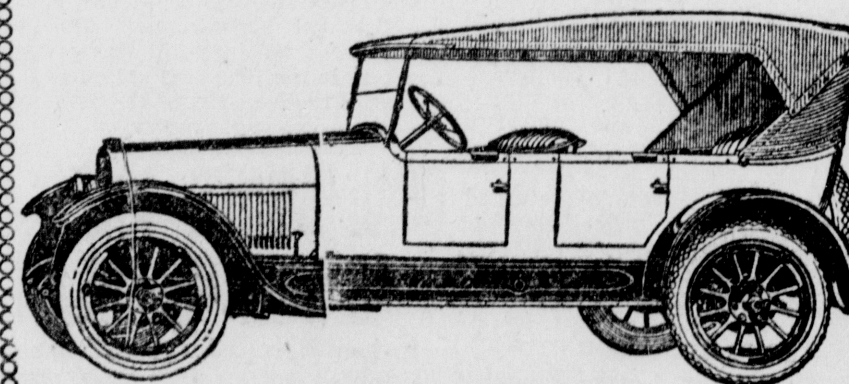

It is damp and dry alternatively now every day after tomorrow.

The weather is working like one of these automatic gauges. When it gets too cold the rain automatically shuts off, and it starts to getting warmer right away. When a certain degree of heat is attained, the weather is automatically turned on again and it rains until it gets cold.

A man trying to keep his heaves and his lights in perfect co-operation with the weather will get dizzy with St. Vitus dance. The weather man always has his checkers moved one move ahead of the game. It was bright and sunny Wednesday, and rainy Thursday, which means it will be nice again Friday, with rain Saturday. Sunday will be rainy for good measure and to strengthen out the odd number of days in the week. No, this is not a poem of a pessimist, but the song of a statistician.

A pedestrian Thursday said it was not raining hard, but that each drop was hammered three times before being sent down, so that it was flattened out and covered a large area.

BUICK

MODEL 21-45

For years the demand for Buick Cars has always exceeded the supply—even when Buick production mounted to 500 cars daily.

Because of the material curtailment of motor car production this Winter, the Country faces a decided shortage of quality cars this Spring and Summer.

Consequently Buick Dealers are advising motorists to place their Buick orders now because orders must be sent to Factory months in advance of delivery.

The reason why the demand for Buick cars has always exceeded the supply is more pronounced than ever in the 1921 Buick. Coupled with the noted Buick power and dependability, are added riding comfort, easier control, and a beauty and grace that fittingly express Buick worth.

Authorized Buick service insures full return on Buick investment.

MEMBERS OF CAST OF A. L. PERFORMANCE TENDERED BANQUET

Members of the cast of "The Jollies of 1921," the benefit production sponsored by Joseph P. Foody Post, No. 95, of the American Legion, recently staged here, were honored at a banquet at the Legion Hall Thursday night, followed by a dance at the Knights of Pythias Hall.

About 75 people were seated at the tables in the new dining room of the Legion quarters, the occasion being the first, when the dining room was used for a public gathering. The Women's Auxiliary had charge of the banquet arrangements and served a four-course banquet.

Tables were decorated with ferns and yellow jonquils, and yellow candles burned in their crystal sticks. Place cards marked the plates of each guest. The banquet consisted of grape fruit, a course of mashed potatoes, creamed peas, chicken patties, rolls, a salad course, ice cream, cake, coffee and salted peanuts.

The guests were seated at seven o'clock and at the conclusion of the banquet the members of the cast were verbally thanked for their cooperation in making the recent minstrel show a success by Dr. C. H. Denner, Post Commander. Following the banquet the guests were entertained in the club rooms, with Victrola music and the spontaneous singing of members of the cast who reviewed the songs used in the show.

Dancing at the Knights of Pythias Hall started shortly after eight o'clock, Brown's Orchestra, from Dayton, furnishing the music. The dance was an invitation affair, only those who had participated in the banquet being admitted free, and a large crowd occupied the floor all evening. Dancing continued until one o'clock.

The affair, which was planned entirely for the entertainment of those who had taken part in the Legion show, gave promise as the forerunner of a number of delightful events that will be staged in the new Legion quarters from time to time. The entertainment committee, which planned the entertainment, consisted of William Hupman, Guy Toms and Bert Whittington.

ARMLESS WONDER TO TRAIN HIS STRING OF SPEEDERS HERE

Colby Turner, known over the racing circuits as the "armless wonder," will train his string of stoppers at the local Fair Grounds this spring, according to information from Wilmington, where Turner winters.

Colby will not carry a large string this year, confining most of his attentions to the two promising speeders, Laura Lucille and Tom Mix, the former showing considerable form when started on the half-milers last season.

Turner Darnell, Wilmington owner, now has four horses in training at the Columbus mile track. Darnell's string this year consists of Black Burns, Bell Jolla, Lila the Great and Tom Bond. Black Burns is by Bobby Burns, 2:19 1-4, and was worked in 2:04 1-4, last half in a minute, at North Randall last summer. Bell Jolla, is a four year old, by Binjolla, 2:17 3-4, and out of Butter Bowl, 2:08 1-4. Lila the Great is a six year old, by Peter the Great, 2:17 1-4 and dam by Charles Derby, and Tom Bond is by Paul Greenlander, a trotter and stepped 2:17 1-4 last season.

CONFIDENCE WAS MISPLACED; NOW WANTS SENTENCE

London, Ohio, April 1—Two brothers, believing in the redemption of an erring brother in the services of the penitentiary, several days ago used their influence with Warden Thomas at Columbus to have him placed on the prison farm. Their faith was misplaced because in company with another prisoner they proceeded to walk away from the London institution after a short stay there.

One of the trusting brothers has appeared since then and asked that he might be allowed to raise the amount of the reward offered for the convict, from $50 to $550, the extra amount to come from his own pocket. The other believer has written the warden and asked that he might serve in his brother's place until the brother is captured, if that would diminish his sentence.

The Call of The Outdoors Grows Stronger To Sportsmen

With the advent of spring weather, with its inducements of out-door life, comes the realization of the possibilities of exercise, which to the average inside worker, has been curtailed during the long winter months of "up to the office, back to the house" routine. Which fact calls to mind the statements of doctors that the average man does not take enough physical exercise to keep himself fit.

However with the opening of the Country Club this spring with its possibilities of a number of forms of recreation, it is intimated that many Xenians will shake the cares of offices, from their minds and devote some of their time to the work of keeping in trim. Golf sticks are being pulled from their hiding places of the winter and are being polished, and rubbed for usage by enthusiasts of this game. The tennis fiends are looking with anxious eyes at the courts and wondering if they are still too soft to play on, while the home gardener is selecting his seeds and mapping out his regret that their confidence was misplaced, but the one who offered the money describes his brother as an ingrate, his father having left $5,000 in trust for him as soon as he should be liberated. The would-be helper now desires that his brother serve the maximum sentence. The family, he says, is very wealthy and prominent socially. The convict was sentenced for forgery. The other prisoner in the case was sentenced for carrying concealed weapons. The only feeling his brother betrayed in his letter was regret that he had misinformed the warden concerning the characteristics of the escaped man.

HELPED HER LITTLE GIRL

Children need all their strength for growing. A lingering cold weakens them so that the system is open to attack by more serious sickness. Mrs. Amanda Flint, Route 4, New Philadelphia, O., writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar cured my little girl of the worst tickling cough. campaign against the ever-present hordes of insects that he must battle during the summer.

More attention is apparently being paid in this day and generation to the subject of physical exercise on the well-being of mankind and Xenia promises to devote its share to this phase of spring and summer activity. Opportunities for out-door recreation are more plentiful here now than they have been in the past together with the older forms of amusement, fishing and hiking to say nothing of boating and swimming, local admirers of the open are waiting impatiently for the weatherman to release them from their involuntary bondage.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

Affiliation.—To date 45 states have affiliated with the American Farm Bureau Federation. The only two states not having done so are Mississippi and South Carolina.

Executive Committee To Meet in Washington.—Beginning April 11, the Executive Committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation and representatives of the State Farm Bureau Federation will meet in Washington, D. C. to work out a definite legislative program to present at the coming session of Congress.

Fruit Growers To Seek Improved Marketing Methods.—Every fruit grower in America who seeks a market for his product is looking forward with hopeful interest to a conference called by President Howard to be held April 5 in Chicago. Each State Federation has been requested to send at least one official representative of its fruit growers. H. B. Shaver of Cheshire will represent the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

Plan Committee of Seventeen.—Ohio farm organizations endorsed the principle of the Grain Marketing Committee of Seventeen at a meeting at Columbus recently, the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, Ohio Grange and Farmers' Grain Dealers Association of Ohio being represented. The five Ohio delegates to the ratification meeting in Chicago April 6, are: D. M. Odaffer of the Farm Bureau, R. E. Creninger and C. S. Latchaw of the Grain Dealers Association, L. J. Tabor of the Grange and H. A. Lutz of the Equity Association.

Livestock Marketing Committee To Meet.—The Farmers' Livestock Marketing Committee of Fifteen will hold its second meeting in Chicago April 7. Sub-committees will report and definite investigations will be outlined.

Bradford at Binghamton.—O. E. Bradford, Vice-president of the American Farm Bureau Federation and President of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation represented the American Federation at Binghamton, N. Y., March 21, at a meeting celebrating the tenth anniversary of the Farm Bureau.

New Farm Loan Bonds.—The new Federal Farm Loan Bonds will be ready for issuance April 15. The new offering of bonds will be made through Federal Banks, Farm Loan Associations and Distributing Houses. The amount of the issue will be determined by the demand for loans and by bond marketing conditions.

Organization Department.—Clean-up campaigns—Have just received report from Highland County's clean-up campaign which states that they have secured 206 additional new members and are still working. Miami County reports a probable increase in membership of 250. A highly successful campaign is being put on by the farmers of Belmont County under the leadership of County Agent Neff and Mr. Glasgow. Lake County just finished a series of meetings with Mr. Somers and County Agent Riggle. Quite a bit of enthusiasm and a number of members is the result. Allen County Farm Bureau thought it could not spend this busy time in membership, but decided there was no more important thing before the farmers at this time—the result—Allen County starts March 29 on a "more members" campaign.

New Campaigns.—Vinton county started a membership campaign March 22. This is the youngest farm bureau in Ohio. Butler county starts her campaign March 28 with Ellis Hamrick in charge for the State and J. F. Kyger for the local organization. County Agent Rowland of Columbiana County says they are ready to go March 28. Clark Halverstadt will be County Manager and E. E. Jackson State Manager.

Marketing Department.—A committee of the co-operative sugar beet growers association visited the Ohio Beet Sugar Manufacturers in Ohio, and those in Michigan operating in Ohio for the purpose of arranging a conference of all the manufacturers with the association at which time satisfactory contract could be agreed upon. Even though the sugar beet growers in Colorado and California have been granted contracts decidedly better than the ones sought by the Ohio association nevertheless the Ohio growers are anxious to effect a mutually satisfactory agreement with the manufacturers of this state.

Marketing Activities.—County Livestock Marketing Companies have been recently completed in Henry, Seneca, Muskingum, Greene and Coshocton Counties. Similar organizations are under way in Van Wert, Sandusky, Ottawa and Pike Counties.

The Letart Truck Growers' Association (Meigs County) recently formed is now considering sales connections in Pittsburgh for their produce which will average approximately two cars a day during the truck season.

Department of Investigation.—"Before You Invest—Investigate," is the slogan of the Department of Investigation of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, just recently established. This department has been created for the benefit of farm bureau members, any stocks, bonds or securities offered to Ohio farmers concerning which inquiries are received, the result of its findings to be reported to the members through the County Farm Bureau offices.

Gift Corn Project On Boom.—Ohio Gift Corn is just beginning to move. Cars have been recently requested by the following counties: Clark and Greene Counties each six cars, Fulton County five cars; Champaign County three cars; Franklin County two cars; Delaware County one car and Union County one car. Carroll County has notified us of the collection of cash to the amount of $1,000.00. Many favorable reports are being received from other counties in the State, and it is felt that Ohio's quota will be raised within the next few weeks.

CHICKS SHOULD BE HATCHED EARLY

Success in securing high priced winter eggs depends in a very large measure on starting with early hatched chicks. For best results, according to G. S. Vickers, Poultry Extension Specialist for the Ohio State University, chicks of the heavier breeds, Rhode Island Reds, Plymouth Rocks, and Wyandottes, should be hatched not later than April 10. The lighter breeds, Leghorns, and Anconas, may be hatched as late as May 1 and yet mature in time to be profitable layers.

However, early hatched chicks will not insure winter eggs unless the chicks are given proper care, the essentials of which, according to Mr. Vickers are: a good brooder house, do not let chicks get chilled or too warm; do not feed them until they are from 48 to 72 hours old; get chicks on fresh, clean range; feed milk in some form; provide dry mash and green food.

SHEEP SHEARING CONTEST.—The annual sheep shearing contest at the Ohio State University will be held April 13.—This is the twelfth contest and each year proves of much interest not only to the students but to hundreds of visitors who may be in Columbus the day of the contest. Liberal prizes are offered in the following events: shearing a sheep with hand shears by students; shearing a sheep with hand shears by professionals; shearing a sheep with a shearing machine by professionals; catching casting, shearing with shears, tying the fleece by students.

WAS IN BED THREE DAYS.—Mrs. Josie Reed, 217 N. Exter St., Tulsa, Oklahoma, writes: "I was in bed three days with my back. I took Foley Kidney Pills and in two days was at my work again. I cannot praise your medicine too much." Foley Kidney Pills stop bladder irregularities and strengthen the kidneys. They help eliminate from the system the poisons that cause backache, rheumatic pains, stiff joints, sore muscles, swollen hands and feet, puffiness under the eyes. Sayre & Hemphill, adv.

IN HARD LINES

"I could not work at all and had to take to my bed with a high fever due to intestinal indigestion, gases in my stomach and pain in my right side. I had spent my last cent for doctors and medicine, which gave me no relief. I was in despair. A lodge brother gave me a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and the first dose relieved me. Thanks to this medicine I am now in the best of health." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. All druggists. adv

Escape the "Stout" Class
An attractive figure is not a matter of size but of correct proportions. The stout women who are never spoken of as "stout" are those who give a little time and thought to proper corseting.

Rengo Belt Reducing Corsets give the wearer an appearance of slenderness. The exclusive Rengo Belt feature gives strength and support where the greatest strain falls—over the abdomen and hips. They have the reputation of being "the most economical reducing corsets ever devised."

NO ACTION ON DEBS UNTIL APRIL 3

Washington, April 1.—There will be no action on the appeal for a pardon for Eugene V. Debs, socialist leader now in Atlanta penitentiary for violation of the espionage law, before April 13. Attorney General Daugherty stated today.

On April 13, President Harding will receive a delegation to make a plea for general amnesty for political prisoners.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles. adv

LEGAL STEPS WILL BE USED TO GET ALL STREET TAXES

Washington, C. H. April 1.—At a recent session of the county commissioners, upon the suggestion of Prosecutor Maddox, that assistance be given in proceedings for collecting some $21,000 in back street sidewalk and alley improvement assessments due the city and covering a period of many years, the commissioners adopted a resolution employing Attorney Harry M. Rankin to bring the court actions and take all legal steps necessary for collecting the back assessments, and allowed 20 per cent. commission for his work.

Following the action of the commissioners Attorney Rankin, who is thoroughly familiar with the cases in hand by reason of having been solicitor and later prosecutor and filed some actions to collect some back assessments two or three years ago, stated that he would proceed at once with the legal steps required to place the cases in the common pleas court for settlement.

Not only will the principal be asked in the court actions, but the interest as well, and in many instances the interest will be a substantial sum in connection with the unpaid assessments.

McDonald, who is here investigating the fatal accident at the Harding crossing, in which Milton Lenox, his wife and two small children were instantly killed Friday afternoon, stated that Engineer Tarbuton, who was in charge of limited train No. 11, is suffering from a severe nervous shock at his home in Bellefontaine, caused by the accident. McDonald states this was Tarbuton's first serious accident.

MOTHER ALLEGED TO HAVE DESERTED

Troy, April 1.—An affidavit has been filed in the municipal court charging Lucille Jones, colored, with abandonment of her child, Dorothy, aged 7.

The affidavit alleges that she abandoned the child about November 5, 1920, and has not cared for the child since that time.

The whereabouts of the mother are unknown.

SERIOUSLY HURT IN FALL FROM HAYMOW IN TROY

Troy, April 1.—Henry Wilson who is employed at the Gordon & Hall nursery, suffered quite severe injuries about 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, when he fell from a haymow at the nursery for a distance of 14 feet, striking directly on his back.

Dr. Harry Shilling was called and attended the injured man, and although it is not believed that the injuries are fatal, it is thought that he suffered internal injuries and severe bruises as a result of the fall.

He was removed to his home in the Wade Shilling ambulance and is reported as resting as easily as could be expected, although he will probably be confined to his home for some time.

BUYS PROPERTY ON ROGERS STREET

With the purchase recently of almost two acres of land on Rogers Street, by Dr. B. R. McClellan, has come the unconfirmed rumor that a new hospital may be erected on the site. It is understood that a project of this nature has been under consideration for some time but whether plans will actually be completed could not be ascertained Friday. Neither Dr. B. R. McClellan nor his son Schuyler McClellan, business manager of the present McClellan hospital, would discuss the matter Friday, beyond saying that plans for the future of the land purchased are as yet not certain.

The land represents one of the highest spots in the city and is situated at the right angle turn of Rogers street, which runs from Home avenue to South Detroit street. Included in the purchase is the brick residence formerly occupied by J. H. Dakin.

POTATO DISHES
Creamed Potatoes—Cut two cups cold boiled potatoes into dice and reheat in one and one-quarter cups white sauce.

Browned Potatoes—Slice or cut in dice as many potatoes as desired. Brown some butter in a saucepan and put in the raw potatoes.

Add seasoning and allow them to cook for about five minutes, turning them constantly. Cover saucepan and cook in oven over a medium fire until browned. Place on a rack.

Dauphine Potatoes—One-half cup milk, two tablespoons butter, six tablespoons flour, three eggs, two large potatoes, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon paprika. Directions—Wash, pare and cook potatoes; mash, then put through ricer; add salt and paprika.

Heat milk and butter, add the flour all at once, and stir briskly until the mixture leaves the side of the pan. Remove from the fire and add the eggs, well beaten, one at a time; mix the sauce with the mashed potatoes, then stir over the fire two minutes. Beat thoroughly with spoonfuls into hot fat and fry ten minutes. These are

So far as is learned it is likely that the usual acreage of corn will be planted in most sections. More farmers than usual are said to be planning to hog down part of the crop in order to avoid some of the labor cost in delicious and recipe serves six.

Escalloped Potatoes—Pare, soak and cut four large potatoes in one-quarter inch slices. Put a layer in buttered baking dish, sprinkle with salt and pepper, dredge with flour and dot over with butter; repeat; then add hot milk until it can be seen through the top layer. Bake two hours over medium fire.

DISCOVERIES
Never eat fish that is not thoroughly cooked. It is dangerous. Stewed prunes served with roast veal are very good. The skin of a good ham is thin. Old hams have a thick skin, as well as a strong flavor.

When kneading bread, use as little flour as possible on the board.

BREAD
Water Bread—Two cups boiling water, one tablespoon butter, one tablespoon lard, one tablespoon of sugar, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one-half yeast cake dissolved in one-fourth cup lukewarm water, six cups flour.

Put butter, lard, sugar and salt in large bowl or basin; pour on boiling water; when lukewarm, add yeast cake and five cups of flour, then stir until thoroughly mixed. Add remaining flour, mix and turn on floured board; knead until smooth and elastic to touch. Return to bowl, grease and cover with clean cloth; let rise over night in temperature of 65 degrees F.

In the morning cut down by cutting through and turning over dough with a case knife. Again allow dough to rise, then toss on board well floured, knead and shape into loaves or biscuits, place in well greased pans, having them about half full. Cover and let rise to double the bulk, then bake in oven, not too hot, from forty-five to sixty minutes.

The Revolt of Vera Sanderson

By JANE PHELPS.

THE MATTER OF THE CAR

CHAPTER 4

I knew I had initiative—in many ways. I also knew before I had been long married that I was constantly browbeaten by my husband's sister. Yet I was helpless—or thought I was which amounted to the same thing. I loved Keith so dearly that I was afraid to assert myself in any way for fear of offending him.

Then, too, Keith had a temper. I had seen nothing to indicate he was more than ordinarily prone to resent things of which he didn't approve before we were married. But I soon found it took but little to make him either fly off at a tangent, or go to the other extreme and sulk.

No matter which he did, it made me miserable. So I grew more meek instead of insisting upon expressing myself and demanding my rights.

One Sunday the pastor of the church we attended, took for his text: "The meek shall inherit the earth."

I felt that I never wanted to hear him again, that I would rather be disinherited than to be meek and have the earth, as he said one should if they bowed their necks willingly to the yoke.

Margaret had a lovely limousine of a popular make. When we all went to the theater or church we all rode. But when I asked for the car she invariably was going to use it, and refused me.

"May I have a car, a small one?" I asked Keith.

"We don't need another car, Vera." "We—?" I exclaimed. "Isn't it Margaret's car?"

"It belongs to both of us," he replied then flushed.

"If it does why does she refuse to allow me to use it."

"Well—you see she has had exclusive use of a car for so long—oh, why will you always quarrel with Margaret, Vera? We never used to have any words about things. I dislike it very much."

I said no more. I saw he was becoming angry. But I knew as well as if he had told me that he had paid for the car that it belonged to him not to Margaret.

It was only a short time afterward that I overheard a conversation between them about changing the car for a new model.

"Why not consult Vera as to the upholstery?" Keith asked, Margaret had asked his advice.

"She hasn't any taste in those things," was my sister-in-law's answer. "Suit yourself then. But Margaret if you have that lake model, it must do for you and Vera both. She wants a small car for her own. I had thought to give it to her for birthday, but if I do this it will be impossible."

"She doesn't need a car. When we go out don't we always use the large car? I couldn't think of using last year's model—people would say that now you were married anything was good enough for me."

"I told you my marriage would not make any difference to you, Margaret. I have kept my word."

"I know, and you are a dear, the dearest brother a woman ever had." So they had discussed these things before Keith married me. He had promised his marriage should make no difference in what he did, what he spent for her. It seemed terribly unfair to me.

Often during the first few months of my married life I had shed a few tears when Keith and I had had some argument. He always put me in the wrong, and made me feel like an unreasonable child crying for the moon. But after a while this feeling was mingled with one of resentment. I hated to be put in the position of a selfish, unconsiderate wife—which I was not. It was only too soft, to quote Margaret.

I never retorted angrily when Keith found fault with me. Instead I would throw my arms around his neck and with tears and sobs beg him to love me and forgive me for annoying him.

We used, before we were married, to take long walks in the early dusk, I asked him if he wouldn't take them now. I felt as if just to get away from the house, from Margaret, with him would be happiness.

"I can't take the time, Vera. It is all I can do to make ends meet by putting full time at the office." He kissed me and told me to ask Margaret to walk with me.

"She is such a fine sensible woman. Vera. It will do you good to be with her. Make her your companion, dear whenever you can. Margaret is one in a thousand."

I felt like screaming that I knew she was one in a thousand—the one to take all joy in life from me, to make my marriage with him a nightmare because of her influence, when I had looked forward to a life of happiness.

I was fast becoming disenchanted. I hated Margaret—although I tried to hide it. I almost hated Keith at times and I despised myself for enduring what I constantly assured myself could not be helped.

It frightened me a little when I first began to feel that something like hatred for Keith. I fought against it desperately. It would be dreadful to go on living with a man one didn't love.
